Camella
MANORS UPSTATE

A home designed for the upwardly mobile

Camella solidified its position as the country's property developer via competitive pricing, excellent build quality, ideal locations, and aggressive marketing campaigns that continue to speak to and of the hopes of the brand's market.

Camella has become the quintessential Filipino housing brand. The dream is to be able to build homes and vertical villages where any Filipino wishes to live and raise his family.

Recreating resort communities on several delightful levels

With the many benefits of and the growing demand for condominium living, Camella translated the top-quality, best value, and themed community concepts it has long been loved for into vertical villages. Thus, Camella upped the ante by evolving its tower designs into resort communities that completely recreate the feeling of traveling to parts unknown, right in one's neighborhood.

With its condominium developments, Camella keeps creating better services, engineering progressive architecture, bolstering lifestyle facilities, finding even more convenient locations, and jumping on global hot buttons like green architecture.
